May/June 2020

Magazine of The Church on the High Street

Stay Home

This edition of our magazine is quite different to the usual. Normally we include information about forthcoming services, events etc. But as we all know these are unprecedented times and our daily lives are very different and this magazine reflects that. We don't know when our church building will be open again but we do know that our doors will be flung open sometime in the future to welcome the people of Dore back in. In the meantime we are 'gathering' in different ways and this special edition is another way for us to keep in touch. Take care everyone.

Jottings from the Manse:

When I was young my grandmother was always cautious about me running around in shorts and t-shirts in the merry month of May, "Nair cast a clout till May is out" she would say. Meaning keep your vest and winter clothes on till June 1st. (Even if we were having a heat wave and the temperatures had reached over 70 degrees!) However I also remember my mother taking her to task over the saying. She had an alternative meaning and said it was about not throwing off your winter woollies till the blossom of the May tree was out, which of course happened from the end of April onward. Hooray I didn't have to boil in a sweater!

Despite the lockdown we have enjoyed some lovely weather in April and I for one really hope this continues. If you are able to manage a daily walk, the blossom on the trees which line many of the roads in this area certainly have been a delight to see as they burst into life.

In the calendar of the Church May is also a special month as we celebrate the amazing experience of Jesus' disciples at Pentecost. Fired with enthusiasm for sharing the good news after the resurrection, they too were certainly bursting out and the Christian Church was born. A Church not confined to an institute but a living Church alive to Christ and alive with Christ, showing the same marks of His love.

The Holy Spirit works in many ways, at times we can be fired with exuberant enthusiasm which bubbles out in our personalities and worship. At other times the Spirit is found quietly working through the sparkle of an eye, an infectious smile, the warmth of a word spoken gently, or the dependability of friendships in times of trouble. All these and many more speak eloquently of Gods Spirit and His love for each one of us.

This year we will celebrate Pentecost in a different way as we did Easter, but the Spirit of God will still be on the move, breathing life into our faith, love into our hearts and light into our witness.

Shalom, Gail

Be Joyful

Keep the Faith

Do the Little Things

I heard these words during a broadcast from St David's Cathedral in April.

The words are attributed to St David, known as 'Dewi Sant' in Wales. He died on March 1st 589 and this is the day that all Welsh people gather to remember their country and its patron saint.

I liked the fact that the new school surrounding St David's has adopted these words as their motto.

The Grace Food Bank

is operating under the Government's Social Distancing Measures.

Food Banks have been classed as performing "Key Work" and volunteers as "Key Workers", an interesting indictment on our 21st century society.

The food bank is still receiving donations of food but all Church and library collection points are currently closed, however, there is a permanent collection box in Sainsburys (Archer Road) and a trolley in Morrisons (Meadowhead) and there is a collection box in Tesco (Abbeydale Road) for Trussell Trust Foodbanks.

For those of us who are not venturing afar, but still want to support the food bank, we can donate money instead of food.

A donation of £2.00 will buy 3 packets of noodles or 2 tins of rice pudding or 2 tins of tomatoes or 2 tins of soup.

A donation of £5.00 will buy 2 boxes of cereal or 2 bags of white rice or 3 packets of instant mashed potato or 3 jars of jam or 2 UHT milk or 2 boxes of tea bags.

Donations can be made by going to the website at www.gracefoodbanksheffield.org.uk and clicking on Donations for details.

Safeguarding If you have safeguarding concerns consult Rev. Gail Hunt, minister or Bridget Ball, safeguarding officer.

SOW what are you doing during the lockdown?

An unofficial straw poll shows that many of you are gardening, reading, walking, sleeping, baking, knitting, bird watching, watching tv and so much more...

For those of us fortunate enough to have a garden to tend here are some tips for May (courtesy of the RHS):

- ◇ Watch out for late frosts. Protect tender plants
- ◇ Plant out summer bedding at the end of the month (except in cold areas & if you can buy any!)
- ◇ Water early and late to get the most out of your water, recycle water when possible
- ◇ Regularly hoe off weeds

- ◇ Open greenhouse vents and doors on warm days
- ◇ Mow lawns weekly
- ◇ Check for nesting birds before clipping hedges

An elderly woman had just returned home after attending a Church meeting when she was startled by an intruder. As she caught the man in the act of robbing her home, she cried out "Stop - Acts 2 : 38". The burglar stopped dead in his tracks and the woman calmly called the police for assistance. As the man was being handcuffed the officer asked him "why on earth did you just stand there, all she did was yell a verse of scripture at you".

"Scripture?" replied the burglar, "she said she had an AXE and two 38's"!!!!

Little Ben's mum was serving prunes for dessert, but Ben didn't like prunes one little bit! He grumbled and complained and absolutely refused to eat them. His mum was very cross and told Ben that God would be very angry if he didn't eat his prunes. Still he wouldn't eat them, so in desperation, his mum sent him to his room.

Later in the evening a fierce thunderstorm blew up. There was much thunder and lightning. Feeling somewhat sorry for little Ben and thinking that he might be afraid of the storm, his mum went up to his room.

When she opened the door, Ben was kneeling looking out the window. His mum heard him say, "Gee whiz, God, all this just for two measly prunes?"

Insects to look out for:

Brimstones are on the wing
Bee-flies are basking in sunny spots and nectaring at flowers

Hairy-footed flower-bees are whizzing around flowers

Orange-tip butterflies are on the wing flying past at speed.

New Penpal Scheme

A new penpal scheme has been set up by Sheffield Churches Council for Community Care (SCCCC). They are currently looking for people to write letters to older isolated people living in Sheffield.

The first letters can be very simple, with just a few lines about yourself, your family or even your hobbies. Even a card to cheer someone up would be very much appreciated. It's a great way to do some volunteering from home.

Letters and card can be sent to: Penpal Scheme, SCCC, Unit 19, President Buildings, Saville Street East, Sheffield, S4 7UQ. They will then send the mail on to an isolated person who would appreciate a few friendly words.

Police patrols to support Sheffield city centre rough sleepers

Over the last few weeks, the Sheffield City Centre Neighbourhood Team has been working hard to support rough sleepers and homeless people as the Covid-19 situation has developed. Police officers, along with the charity Framework, have been carrying out daily outreach patrols so they can ensure these members of our communities have the information they need to keep themselves safe.

Inspector John Mallows said: "My team have been taking to the streets every single morning for the past month, to carry out dedicated patrols aimed at those who are sleeping rough. "Officers and PCSOs are speaking to individuals, delivering leaflets and information about Covid-19 and crucially, they are making sure these people know exactly where they can get support, even making contact with authorities on their behalf.

"Some of them have complex vulnerabilities and it is vital that they accept the help and accommodation being offered by the local authority and support organisations. Our focus has been ensuring they understand the risks posed by the current public health crises and the danger they could be putting themselves in. The priority has been to engage, educate and have proper conversations, which has been the approach adopted right across the force."

Jazmine Douglas, Street Outreach Worker with Framework, said: "The patrols are important at all times, but they're absolutely vital at the moment to ensure people are getting the help they need in the face of Covid-19. Working alongside officers is effective for us because it means we can engage with and offer help to some of the most vulnerable people in society, whilst the police have a clearer picture of the situation on the streets."
